Friday 17th May 2024

What has been happening this week?

This week, year 5 have had a great time in different classes across the school– joining in with lessons and supporting the younger children. They have enjoyed some extra PE sessions as well as computing and Spanish. They also finished writing up their own stories.

Year 6 were amazing during their SATs. They really were superstars and made me incredibly proud. They had a great time at their SATs party.. I now need a lie down!

Next Wednesday will be my last day in school before half term– the children have probably told you that I am getting married over half term and will be returning to school as Mrs Buss! I have promised the children that we will have a little celebration on Wednesday afternoon.

Have a lovely weekend,

Miss Baker
